'Y' EXTRA IS LATEST LOCAL NEWS MEDIUM

New Advertising Pamphlet Gives Pointers on Association's Work for the Fall

The "Y. M. C. A. Extra" is off the press. Replete with matter of interest to every member of the organization, it contains a lot of healthy pointers about what the association is and what it is going to do during the fall. This issue will be the official mouthpiece of the association during the next six weeks, and is the first advertising feature of the Y. M. C. A.'s proposed new publicity campaign.

Following are a few "news items":

Volunteers. If you can sing a song, tell a story, umpire a baseball game, or lead a Bible class, the Boys' Department can use you this winter. Report to Mr. Loomis or the m'n office now, for we are now planning the fall and winter work.

Setting it up. The employed officers of the Association will spend all day Friday and Saturday of this week in a mountain home setting up the Association plans for the fall and winter. If you miss the regular staff from the office you will understand why none of us are around. Of course the building will be open just as usual.

You'll Like It. Comparatively few have taken advantage of our really excellent massage and electric light bath department. Evidently it is not understood. An electric light bath is the same as a Turkish bath, except that it is a whole lot better and more pleasant. The heat is supplied by incandescent lights in a cabinet in which you sit. This bath is highly beneficial, as local physicians will testify. It eliminates impurities from your system, relieving or entirely curing rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica, and similar complaints. The charges are reasonable. The man in charge, Mr. Yen Chin, has had three years' training at one of the Battle Creek Sanatoriums. This bath also refreshes a sore or weary body. Try it.

Lots of folk do. But this great public institution, the Y. M. C. A., has demonstrated its ability to properly use philanthropic gifts, and on the basis of its record appeals to its friends to help create an endowment by gifts large and small, given as outright gifts, bequests, insurance policies, or donations of land, stocks, or bonds. We are incorporated, and have as our trustees and directors men who are recognized as among the leading business men of the islands. As we have gone through these recent months of hard times and now plan for the coming year, we feel deeply the need of an adequate endowment. Can you help?

W. H. Dreier. This is the name of our new office secretary. He is a graduate of Des Moines College, Iowa, where he was a prominent football, basketball, and track man. Get acquainted with him.

Fall Opening. The big plans for the fall and winter will begin with a "grand opening" the first of October. Meanwhile, there is plenty of activity at the building, so come around.

Bowling. The three bowling alleys will be given such overhauling as they need, and opened October first. There will be a "bowlers' convention" first, to lay out the schedules et cetera.

Billiards. Spend some of your leisure time in our billiard room. The four tables there, three of them pocket tables, will provide you with both light exercise and sociability. The rate is five cents a cue a half hour.

Gymnasium. All summer long a group of men have been having a good time in the gym Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons at five o'clock. Volley ball has proved the popular game for this group. Come and try it.

For Boys. The Worth While What-Not Club in-

Women of Independence

A TEMPERANCE SERMON
By Dr. John W. Wadman

To the women goes the credit of winning another election in the interests of prohibition. The battle was fought Tuesday, July 21. No blood was drawn, though a young doctor's pretty wife had a revolver shoved in her face as she was protesting against the fearful beating which two respectable "dry" citizens received at the hands of the "wets." The brave women, representing all classes of society, all churches, all creeds, turned out en masse in the interests of "Home and Child Welfare," and confronted a gang of crafty politicians and election crooks. Two nights before the fathers, in relays of 100, patrolled the streets till daybreak, when the wives and mothers joined them and the battle was on. The plans had all been previously well considered and defined. Two or more women were assigned to follow each suspected man and stay with him all day. The women obeyed orders to the very letter. The men, in opposition, did not like the procedure, but it was taken rather good naturedly. There was no escape.

It is said that one man, hired to be on the job, started out in the morning with $500 in his pockets and when night came he still had the $500.

The leader of the saloon forces is a prominent "politician," and was much in evidence all day, but merely because, whether in his auto or walking the streets, he was accompanied by two women who had an auto and a camera. It is said that he acted like a gentleman all day, never losing his patience but once and that was when he approached a telephone and discovered Mrs. Yingling at his elbow. He exclaimed in some rage: "Well, if you must hear, I suppose you must," and he proceeded to send two messages which were promptly reported at the headquarters of the Anti-Saloon League. As he hung up the phone he impatiently asked: "Mrs. Yingling, when are you going to let up?" She replied, "When the polls close."

And so the brave women fought the battle right through to the finish discovering that it was hottest and thickest between sundown and 8 o'clock, when voting closed. They won the day. Independence, Missouri, has gone dry. It is now the largest saloonless city in the State.

It is to be noted that one very amusing incident occurred with this campaign. In a certain ward a large number of colored folk live, and 200 negro votes were possible, but only 100 voted because it was understood that the negroes were afraid of the women and the cameras; and as a consequence, whenever the "paid" solicitors with their pockets full, being easily "spotted," approached the negroes, the groups were scattered by the women. Hurrah for this type of American suffragists!

"THE MONEY VALUE OF EDUCATION" IS TIMELY "Y" ADVT.

"The Money Value of Education" forms the topic of an interesting advertisement which has been placed in the lobby of the Young Men's Christian Association in the interest of the educational department. The basis of the advertisement is four full money bags, ranging from a large one down to one apparently containing very little cash. Above each bag is a notice and, starting with the largest, they read as follows:

First—The average college trained man earns on an average of $13 a week at the age of 22 years and $42 a week at the age of 32 years. It is largely from this class that America today is drawing her men of affairs. Sixty-five per cent of "Who's Who" are college trained men.

Second—The average man with a vocational school training (such as is being offered by the Y. M. C. A. night school) earns on an average of $17 a week at the age of 22 years and $25 a week at the age of 32 years. Men for responsible positions are being drawn largely from this class.

Third—The average man with a common school education, plus shop and factory training, earns on an average of $13.50 a week at the age of 22 years and $15.80 a week at the age of 32 years.

Fourth—The average man with an eighth grade training or less earns on an average of $10 a week at 22 years of age and $12.20 a week at 32 years of age. This represents 80 per cent of our population and also the great bulk of our pauper and criminal classes.

Two mines of the Cananea Consolidated Copper Co., at Sonora, Mexico, are on fire. The Mexican workers who returned to work unwillingly after a strike, are suspected.

cludes all boys interested in dramatics, public speaking, debating, and music. It meets in the Boys' Department every Saturday night. Visit them.

Thursday Night Lectures. Messrs. Farrington, Love and Fraser, the committee in charge of the Thursday Night Lectures, announce that they will start another series beginning next week.

War News! The new bulletin board in the lobby always supplies the latest war news. Drop in and read it, and consult the fine map of Europe we have hung up.

TENTATIVE PROGRAM OF THURSDAY LECTURES IS OUTLINED BY Y. M. C. A.

Jay A. Urice, educational secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association, has arranged the following tentative program of lectures to be given in Cooke hall each Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, commencing August 27:

August 27—"Causes of War."
September 3—"Courts of Europe."
September 10—"The Economics of a Great War."
September 17—"The Monroe Doctrine."

September 24—Open date.
October 1—"Russia."
October 8—Open date.
October 15—Topic appropriate to election.

The committee in charge of the lectures now is securing the speakers. It is the idea to have a series of lectures on topics pertaining to the present European war.

EDITOR'S ESTATE GOES TO COLLEGE

[By Latest Mail.]

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—The estate of the Rev. Dr. William Palmer, editor of The St. Louis Christian Advocate, is largely bequeathed to the Central College for Women, at Lexington, Mo., according to the terms of his will filed here.

A farm at Waverly, Mo., is given to the college, says the Fargo Forum and Daily Republican.

He also left to the college other property, the income of which should be used "to train young women to do something."

SPECIAL SERVICES AT KAMOILILI FOR GIRLS OF INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL

The Grand Trunk Pacific pier at Seattle, Wash., was destroyed by fire at a loss of $500,000.

Y. W. C. A. NOW MAKING PLANS FOR NEXT YEAR

Two New Secretaries Coming from East to Increase Efficiency of Association

With the recent arrival in Honolulu of Miss Carrie Chandler, who takes the position of general secretary left vacant by the recent resignation of Miss Esther Erickson, the association now is commencing to formulate plans for the work which it intends to accomplish during the coming year.

"The association is trying to make plans for the coming year," says Miss Chandler, "and would like to have any of the girls or women who wish to enter any of the classes, register at the office."

"The Bible, French, German, Spanish, English, millinery, domestic science and the different athletic classes are under consideration. If possible, arrangements will be made for any class desired if sufficient persons register to justify it."

Miss Chandler enters into her new duties highly recommended, and with a keen interest in the local work and an aloha for Honolulu. She is a native of Maine, and for some time was church secretary of the Lafayette-street Presbyterian church in Brooklyn, N. Y., during the pastorate of Dr. C. B. McAfee. She spent a year in Laurel, Miss., on a mission of association investigation, and it was upon her recommendations that an association was organized there which since has become a flourishing and progressive institution.

Near the end of October or the first part of November, two new secretaries will arrive in Honolulu to fill vacancies on the staff of the local association. These are Miss Leonore Anderson, who will take the position of director of physical education, and Miss Cora Barney, who will become economic secretary. The bringing of these workers to Honolulu was authorized at a recent meeting of the board of directors of the association.

SPECIAL MEMORIAL SERVICES MAY BE HELD IN CATHEDRAL

A statement has been given out from the Catholic mission to the effect that, until official information regarding the recent death of Pope Pius X is received by the church from Washington, D. C., no special memorial services will be held in the cathedral. It is believed that this official announcement will reach here before Monday, and in this case special services will be held in the Cathedral during the week.

JAPANESE EVANGELIST SPEAKS TOMORROW AT KAUMAKAPILI CHURCH

Known as the "Moody of Japan," and considered the leading evangelist and Christian worker of his own country, Rev. T. Kimura, who has been visiting in Honolulu for the past several weeks, will deliver a sermon in English at the morning services at Kaumakapili church tomorrow which commence at 11 o'clock. Since arriving in Honolulu Mr. Kimura has held several large evangelistic meetings and has interested the Caucasian as well as the Japanese communities with his forceful and interesting addresses. The public is cordially invited to attend the services tomorrow.

George Bolko, a cigar salesman of New York, started suit against Dr. Michael Rosenthal for $50,000 damages alleging negligence in the death of Bolko's 14-year-old son.

The four children of Richard Roberts of Taylor, Wis., were burned to death when fire destroyed their home in the absence of their father.

REV. T. KIMURA SPEAKER AT 'Y' SUNDAY MEETING

Japanese Evangelist, Visiting Here, to Tell of His Life and Work in Far East

The most unique meeting of the Sunday evening series which is being held in the Empire Theater is that arranged for tomorrow evening, when Rev. T. Kimura of Japan will be the speaker. A Japanese evangelist bringing a Christian message to an audience of English speaking men is a novel situation and one which will attract unusually large numbers of men. "The Moody of Japan" is the title which Rev. Kimura has won through the power of his evangelistic message. Preaching over Japan he has brought hundreds of his fellow countrymen to an acceptance of the claims of Christ. His appeal is a stirring one, which never fails to bring response from his Japanese hearers. Rev. Kimura has stirred the local Japanese community with his preaching as it has never been moved before. He has set his goal as 1000 converts and indications are that he will exceed that number. He is not only a speaker of power to Japanese, but has a strong message for English-speaking people. His address at Central Union church recently was listened to with great interest. His sense of humor and the vital note in his preaching win for him the results which he has gained.

Rev. Kimura has a good command of the English language, which he gained during his residence in the states. He is emphatic in his oratory and holds the attention of large audiences with his powerful appeal. He draws from his experience for many apt illustrations which capture his hearers. He is humorous and his pictures of American manners and life are most laughable.

Becoming a convert to Christianity while yet a boy in Japan he went to the United States to study. For some time he conducted a most successful mission to Japanese in the city of San Francisco. It was here that he met the great evangelist, Dwight L. Moody, who became interested in the earnestness of his desire to gain an education. Through Moody's help he was able to go to Chicago and enter the Bible Institute there. Kimura's sincerity and ability as a speaker won him the attention of friends, who assisted him financially in his work. James Wakefield, who is chairman of the Y. M. C. A. committee, which has these meetings in charge, will preside at the meeting. Singing of the audience of men, and the usual special musical features of the meeting will have their place on the program and add to the attractiveness of the meeting.

The Empire theater meetings draw an audience of several hundred men each Sunday evening, who testify to their inspiration and helpfulness. The musical program commences at 7:15 o'clock.
